AIRPORT GUIDE

Suvarnabhumi Airport (BKK) is Bangkok's main international airport and is located approximately 30 km east of the city centre. Upon arrival, guests should follow the signs for Immigration and Baggage Claim, then proceed through Customs before entering the Arrivals Hall. Grab is one of the easiest ways to arrange a private transfer, while official airport taxis are available on Level 1, and the Airport Rail Link provides a convenient connection to central Bangkok. ATMs, currency exchange counters, SIM/eSIM services, restaurants, convenience stores, and information desks are available throughout the airport. Guests should allow extra time for immigration and traffic when planning their journey to the hotel.

TRANSPORTATION

Getting around Bangkok is easy, with Grab being one of the most convenient options for door-to-door transportation. Metered taxis are also widely available, while the BTS Skytrain and MRT subway are fast and reliable ways to avoid traffic, especially during peak hours. Motorbike taxis are useful for short trips and navigating congested areas, and tuk-tuks are a fun option for shorter journeys. For travel along the Chao Phraya River, river boats are also available and offer a scenic alternative.

WEATHER

September is hot, humid, and typically the wettest month in Bangkok. Temperatures generally range from around 25–33°C (77–91°F), with high humidity. Expect frequent tropical showers and thunderstorms, often heavy but relatively short-lived, although longer periods of rain can occur. Bangkok averages roughly 300–340 mm of rainfall during September, with rain occurring on around 18 days of the month.

For guests, we recommend light, breathable clothing, comfortable shoes, and carrying an umbrella. Rain can come suddenly, so it's also a good idea to allow extra travel time when moving around the city.

MOBILE USAGE

Thailand has excellent mobile coverage, and 4G/5G is widely available throughout Bangkok. Visitors can use a local Thai SIM/eSIM or international roaming; eSIM is usually the easiest option because it can be activated before arrival. Free Wi-Fi is also common in hotels, shopping malls, cafés, and restaurants. For getting around, apps such as Grab and Google Maps are very useful, so having mobile data is highly recommended.
